Commissioner Copps:

My household practices very controlling TV viewing if any at all. From Cartoons and Teen Show and so on, my children are guarded against any and all violent TV shows, and that includes shows like: Pokemon, Power Rangers, etc. My family watches very little to no TV because we find that the general overall messages received from the medium are opposed to my family's strong christian beliefs. Thank you so much for hearing from me on this regard.

Dear Chairman/Commissioner:

We have seen too much violence on the television. Many studies have proved it unhealthy and damaging especially for kids who tends to act out on others.

Please do everything in your power to reduce violence on television, it will be a vital contribution to our next generations.

Thank you.

Dear Commissioners,

I am delighted you are asking for input on the above subject.

For our family of children and grandkids there is so little non-violence and filthy entertainment on TV that the only channels we are even minimally interested in are the Animal Planet, Home and Garden, Food, Discovery (sometimes), TVland and local news.

So you see, TV has become a minor event in our house. Too bad for such an effective medium to be wasted on vulgarity, ugliness and non-comical programs with nary a wholesome hour.

It's OK with me because we have found much more worthwhile activities and realize we can do without TV.

Sincerely,

Carol Ellis

You must find ways to make our airways more children friendly. Excessive violence (and profanity) is being reflected throughout our society. The entire entertainment industry, including the movie industry needs to be reined in. Parents cannot monitor their children all day everyday. Also, the rating system is seriously flawed. Excessive violence and excessive profanity should have a higher rating and should not be shown before mid night. The industry will not regulate themselves.
